Naprej, navzgor, navkljub

Onwards, Upwards,
in Spite of Everything

Dvainpetdeseti Teden slovenske drame odpiramo komaj nekaj mesecev po zaključku enainpetdesetega, a zdi se, kot da so minila leta.

Živimo v zanimivih časih, kot pravi stari kitajski pregovor. Zdi se, da je svet izrazito nestabilen: politično, zdravstveno, ekološko, družbeno. Potrebujemo trdne opore, stabilne temelje, na katerih se bomo soočili z izzivi sodobnosti in prihodnosti.

Večtisočletna tradicija gledališča je tak temelj. In večtisočletna tradicija

We are opening the 52nd Week of Slovenian Drama mere months after closing the 51st, yet it feels as if years have passed.

We live in interesting times, goes the old Chinese proverb. Our world – our politics, health, ecology, society – seems decidedly unstable. We need firm support and stable foundations on which we can stand while we face present and future challenges.

One such foundation is the millennia-long tradition of theatre, drama, drame, odra. Ritual gledališča je ritual skupnosti, združuje in povezuje, razkriva in poglablja. Gledališče je prostor, v katerem vstopamo v preteklosti in prihodnosti, kjer nas skozi tisočletja nagovarjajo modri glasovi prednikov in najaktualnejši razmisleki sodobnikov.

Tradicija slovenske dramatike seveda ne sega tako daleč v preteklost, mlad narod smo, a selektorjev letošnji izbor jasno kaže, da je ta dramatika še kako vitalna in aktualna. Letošnje predstave v tekmovalnem in spremljevalnem programu Tedna slovenske drame prav vse jasno in odločno nagovarjajo sodobnost in sodobnika, obravnavajo vprašanja o tem, kako (naj) bivamo, zrcalijo občutljive in pomembne točke prelomov, premislekov, odločitev.

Na temeljih premislekov smo oblikovali tudi dodatni program in k sodelovanju znova povabili vse ključne gradnike razumevanja slovenske dramatike in gledališča. Dogodek smo zasnovali razvojno, da bodo pripeljali do ključnih uvidov o tem, kako naj Teden slovenske drame še naprej podpira razcvet slovenske dramatike.

Teden slovenske drame odpiramo v času, ko smo po dveh letih omejitev stage. The ritual of theatre is a ritual of community; it unites and connects, reveals and deepens. Theatre is a space in – which we enter the pasts and the futures, where through thousands of years, the wise voices of ancestors and the most current thoughts of our contemporaries speak to us.

Of course, the tradition of Slovenian drama does not extend that far back, we're a young nation, yet, as the selector's programme clearly shows, our drama is vital and relevant. The productions in this year's Competition and Accompanying Programmes all clearly and decisively address contemporary time and people, tackle the questions on how we (should) live, reflect the sensitive and important breaking points, considerations, decisions.

We have also structured the Additional Programme upon these considerations and once again invited all the constituents of the Slovenian drama and theatre to work with us. We conceived the events to have a development component to guide us to key insights on how the Week of Slovenian Drama should continue vsi lačni kulturnih vsebin in dogodkov, sproščenega druženja in napetih debat. Poskrbeli smo tudi za mlajše gledalce ter glasbena razvedrila.

Ponosen sem, da naš festival v svoji raznolikosti in vključevalnosti razgrinjava bogastvo slovenske žive kulture in umetnosti. In ponosen, da vsakič znova umesti Prešernovo gledališče in s tem Kranj v samo jedro slovenskega in evropskega gledališča.

Gledališče, hvala, da si!

to support the flourishing of Slovenian playwriting.

We are opening the Week of Slovenian Drama in a time when, after two years of restrictions, we are all craving cultural content and events, relaxed socialising and engaging debates. Of course, we haven't forgotten the young audiences and musical entertainment.

I'm proud that, in its diversity and inclusivity, our festival reveals the wealth of the Slovenian living culture and art. And I'm also proud that again and again, it places the Prešeren Theatre, and Kranj, in the very core of the Slovenian and European theatre.

Theatre, thank you for being!

Spet med presežki slovenskega gledališkega ustvarjanja

Once More Among the Highlights of Slovenian Theatre Creativity

Spet imamo vrhunski dogodek v mestu! Zgolj štiri mesece po odličnem 51. Tednu slovenske drame je tu že naslednji. Vsi stiskamo pesti, da spremljamo zadnje slovo epidemije covida-19 in da bo v prihodnjih letih festival, ki ga s ponosom gostimo v Kranju, brez izjeme 27. marca, na svetovni dan gledališča.

V teh dobrih dveh letih smo scensko umetnost pošteno pogrešali, obžalovali zapovedane prazne stole in vrste pred in za nami, zdaj pa so gledališča spet polna, številne predstave razprodane.

Once again, we have an exceptional event in town! The next festival is already here only four months after the outstanding 51st Week of Slovenian Drama. We're all keeping our fingers crossed that this is the last farewell to the COVID-19 epidemic and that, in the years to come, the festival, which Kranj proudly hosts, will open, without fail, on 27 March, World Theatre Day.

In these two years, we have missed performing arts a lot and bemoaned the mandated empty chairs and rows

Prepričan sem, da bo tako tudi ob letošnjem, že 52. Tednu slovenske drame, festivalu nacionalnega pomena, ki spodbuja ustvarjanje in uprizarjanje slovenske dramatike tako doma kot v tujini. Predstave, ki so uvrščene v letošnji tekmovalni in spremičevalni program, so v marsičem izjemno kakovostne. Sledhera nam da misliti, morebiti spodbudi, da poskušamo postati boljši, ostati Človek ali celo svetilka, ki sije za vse ljudi enako in ne dela razlik – če si sposodim košček Kosovelovega besedila iz predstave v programu festivala. To je tisto, kar nam lahko dajo presežna umetniška dela in za kar smo bili (pre)dolgo prikrajšani. Zato smo zdaj znova tu, polni upanja in pričakovanj.

Jernej Lorenci, čigar Škofjeloški pasijon je ob lanskem Tednu slovenske drame prejel številne nagrade, tudi nagrado občinstva, je v enem od intervjujev lepo strnil: »Ljubezen so ljudje, ki v gledališču iščejo, raziskujejo, doživljajo, ljubijo in jočejo – skupaj.«

in front of and behind us. But now, theatres are full again, and many shows are sold out.

Full houses will also be true, I'm certain, for this year's 52nd Week of Slovenian Drama, a festival of national importance that encourages the creation and production of Slovenian drama at home and abroad. The productions selected for this year's Competition and Accompanying Programmes show exceptional quality in many aspects. Every one of them makes us think, perhaps even encourages us to try and become better, to remain Human, or – to borrow Srečko Kosovel's words from a production on the festival's programme – even to become a lantern that shines the same for all people without differentiating. This is what exceptional artistic works can give us and what we've been deprived of for (too) long. For this reason, we're here again, filled with hope and anticipation.

Jernej Lorenci, whose production, The Škofja Loka Passion Play, won several awards at last year's Week of Slovenian Drama, including the Audience Award, summarised it nicely in one of the interviews: "Love is people who, in the theatre, search, experience, love and cry – together."

Zato Mestna občina Kranj vsako leto podpira ta festival, pa tudi številne druge kulturne dejavnosti, društva in umetnike. Ni dovolj le vzpostavljanje razmer in infrastrukture za kakovostno bivanje, treba je poskrbeti tudi za duševno zadovoljstvo ljudi.

Usedimo se v udoben in zatemnjen del gledališča in – uživajmo!

The audiences, the people, need culture because it's our foundation, our drive, our repose and our basis of profound thinking and ensuing actions.

Therefore, every year, the City of Kranj supports this festival and many other cultural activities, associations and artists. It's not enough to provide an environment and infrastructure for quality living; people's spiritual satisfaction must be taken care of, too.

Let's sit down in the cosy darkness of the theatre and – enjoy together!

Poročilo žirije 2022

The Jury Report 2022

Člani žirije za nagrado Slavka Gruma in nagrado za mladega dramatika 2022 smo natančno prebrali vseh 38 besedil, ki so bila poslana na oba natečaja – 29 za nagrado Slavka Gruma in 9 za nagrado za mladega dramatika.

Natečaj je bil drugič izpeljan po spremenjenih pogojih in izhodiščih, po katerih lahko sodelujejo samo neobjavljena in neuprizorjena besedila. Žirija festivalu zaradi pomembnih problemov, ki jih povzroča ta odločitev, saj v bistvu onemogoča, da bi lahko upoštevali celoten spekter

The members of the Slavko Grum Award and the Young Playwright Award jury for 2022 carefully read all thirty-eight entries submitted to both competitions, twenty-nine for the Slavko Grum Award and nine for the Young Playwright Award.

This year's competition was the second one organised according to changed criteria and with the requirement that only texts that are unpublished and unproduced at the deadline for submissions are eligible to compete. This change has created significant issues, as it prevents us from considering the entire spectrum novih dramskih besedil za slovensko gledališče v obdobju, ki ga festival pokriva, predлага, da festival znova dobro pretehta določila vseh natečajev, ki potekajo ob festivalu Teden slovenske drame, ter upošteva tako njihov temeljni namen kot način, kako se ga najbolje doseže. Nadalje ugotavljamo, da je bila letos bera prijavljenih besedil za nagrado za mladega dramatika izjemno raznolika in kakovostna, zato bi kazalo v prihodnje uesti tudi nominacije oziroma vsaj omembe širšega izbora besedil za omenjeno nagrado.

Po branju prispelih besedil in obširni razpravi med člani žirije je postalno očitno, da je bera v obeh kategorijah raznolika. Hkrati se je razkrilo dejstvo, da je mlada dramatika obrtno in kvalitativno bolj uravnotežena kot dramatika, ki se poteguje za veliko nagrado, kar je svojevrsten paradoks. Dramsko pisanje je tudi tokrat lepo razvezjano, na žalost pa ga včasih zaznamujejo tudi površnost, obrtna neizdelanost in nedoslednost ter včasih celo začetniške napake. V najboljšem delu, ki pa je žal manjšinski, se tematska in motivna raznolikost kažeta tudi v zvrstni raznolikosti in izdelanosti, kar priča o tem, da je slovenska dramatika daleč od tega, of new plays for Slovenian theatre during the period the festival covers. Hence, the jury recommends that the festival once again reconsider the rules for all the competitions that are a part of the Week of Slovenian Drama and consider their fundamental purpose as well as the way to best achieve it. Further, we find that this year's yield of texts submitted for the Young Playwright Award was exceptionally diverse and high in quality, so it might make sense to introduce nominations for this category as well, or at least mention a selection of texts.

After reading the submitted texts and extensively debating among the jury members, the jury concurred that the yield in both categories is diverse. Paradoxically, the reading also revealed that young playwriting is far more balanced in craft and in quality than the plays competing for the Grum Award. This year's playwriting is well-varied, but is, unfortunately, occasionally marred by carelessness, insufficient craft and inconsistency, at times even beginner's mistakes. In its best part – which, unfortunately, is the minor part – the diversity in themes and motifs are reflected in genre diversity and perfectionism that tell us that Slovenian drama is far from being in a crisis and that, in da bi bila v krizi in da se v najboljših legah zaveda svojih prednosti in čeri, ki prežijo nanjo tako pri uprizarjanju kot tudi v preveč dramatizirani družbi. Dejstvo, da so sodobna dramska besedila velikokrat na meji ali čez mejo distopičnosti, pa je gotovo že stvar hiperpolitiziranosti in krize demokracije, ki smo jim priča v zadnjih letih.

Žirija tako soglasno izbira štiri nominirance ali nominirance, hkrati pa več intrigantnih besedil mladih dramatičark in dramatikov, ki obravnavajo relevantne, sveže tematike in ki jim pri tem velikokrat uspe izumljati singularne jezike dramskega, postdramskega in dramskega po postdramskem. Zvrstno so ta besedila raznolika, včasih tudi hibridna, sveža, z nekaj še ne čisto razrešenih dilem na ravni sižaja in fabule. Včasih so za uprizarjanje izziv, a večinoma izziv, ki lahko prinese tudi gledalske presežke, tako užitek branja kot užitek gledanja.

its best tonalities, it is aware of its advantages, but also dangers that prey on it, whether in staging or the overdramatised society. The fact that contemporary plays are often on – or even over – the edge of dystopia must at this point be a result of hyper-politicisation and the crisis of democracy we have been witnessing in recent years.

The jury unanimously selected the four nominees and also compiled a list of several intriguing texts by young playwrights. The texts deal with relevant, fresh topics and often manage to invent singular languages of drama, post-drama and drama after post-drama. Genre-wise, the texts are diverse, often hybrid, fresh, with some unresolved dilemmas on the subject and story level. At times, they seem a challenge to stage, but for the most part, they are a challenge that can also bring theatre successes, the joy of reading and the joy of watching.

JERA IVANC

logocentrična komedija za sedem punc
o delcih, revoluciji in gledališču

a logocentric comedy for seven girls about particles, revolution and theatre

V gledališču, ki je v času zaprtja osamelo, so ostale le igralke, ki so tam zato, da ga čuvajo in skrbijo zanj, to se pravi, da čistijo, zalivajo rože ipd. Že na ravni narativnega okvira se tako pojavlja prispevka ženske, ki ji je naloženo, da dežura, varuje, skrbi in neguje, poanta pa je, da namesto tega stvari vzame v svoje roke, jih uporabi sebi v prid in na-pravi spremembo, da, torej, rečeno v konkretnem primeru, igralke izkoristijo emancipatorni in mobilizacijski potencial gledališča, z njegovo pomočjo posežejo v obstoječi družbeni red in ga spremenijo, kot se je to, denimo, primerilo v 19. stoletju, ko se je belgijska revolucija začela prav v gledališču. Toda, kot ugotavljajo protagonistke, se mora za kaj takega najprej spremeniti gledališče samo. Ko namreč igralke ostanejo same s svojimi vlogami, jih začnejo preigravati in o njih kritično premišljevati, ugotovijo, da tudi domnevno najbolj emancipirani in feministični liki niso (vedno) na ravni svojega pojma, to se pravi, da tudi njihov upor proti patriarhalnemu modelu sveta ni (nujno) zadosten. Lepa Vida, denimo, se upre vlogi gospodinje, ki mora skrbeti za otroka in moža, toda takšen upor, »da zapustiš otroka in greš z drugim«, »delajo moški, ne ljudje«, konstatiра ena izmed igralk, in v končni fazi Vida, tudi ko zbeži, z mislimi ostaja doma, zaradi slabe vesti pa na koncu

Only the actresses have remained in a theatre, empty during the lockdown, to guard and care for it, that is, to clean it, water the plants and so on. The play's narrative frame thus establishes an allegory of a woman tasked with being on call, protecting, caring and nurturing – however, she takes things into her own hands and uses them to her benefit instead. In this particular case, the actresses take advantage of the emancipatory and mobilising potential of theatre, use it to intervene into the existing social order and change it, just as it happened, for example, in the 19th century when the Belgian revolution started in a theatre. But, as the protagonists find, first the theatre itself must change for a feat like this. Once the actresses remain alone with their roles, start acting them out and thinking about them critically, they realise that even the allegedly most emancipated and feminist characters don't (always) rise to the level of their concept, that is, that even their rebellion against the patriarchal model of the world is not (necessarily) sufficient. Beautiful Vida, for example, revolts against the role of a housewife who has to take care of a child and a husband, but a revolt in which "you leave a child and go off with someone else" is "done by men, not by people", states one of the actresses. After all, after she flees, Vida celo naredi samomor. Tudi upor papežinje Ivane ni zadosten – do papeškega položaja pride tako, da prikrije svoj spol, da se spremeni in začne obnašati kot moški, uspe ji torej kot moškemu, ne kot ženski, nasprotno pa grška kraljica Helena sicer igra na svojo ženskost, toda tudi to je ženskost le skozi moški pogled, Helena se tako rekoč objektivizira in postane seksualni objekt. Vsem trem mitom je torej skupno, da v svojem uporu uspejo, vendar uspejo znotraj patriarhalnega okvira, ki se mu, namesto da bi ga igralke spremenile, vsaka prilagodi na svoj način. To je tako, ker so tudi obstoječe zgodbe in vloge, najsibo resničnih ljudi ali oseb iz fikcije, pa tudi drugi kulturni vzorci v gledališču (in umetnosti) podani skozi normativni okvir, ki je bil in je v veliki meri še vedno pretežno določen skozi moški pogled. Sleheni upor proti dominantni ideologiji svojega časa je zato vselej zahteven, meriti mora na pozicijo izjavljanja, na okvir, znotraj katerega se izreka, in sorodno tudi igra ne ponuja enostavnih in moraličnih odgovorov. Namesto tega napotuje na občinstvo, ki bi odkrilo »dvoumnost besed, vrednot, človeka«, sprevidelo »konfliktnost sveta«, navsezadnje pa morda »svoja prejšnja prepričanja« opustilo in sprejelo »negotov pogled na svet«.

stays at home with her thoughts, and her guilt even drives her to suicide. Pope Joan's revolt is also insufficient – she ascends to papal authority by concealing her gender, by changing and acting like a man. She thus succeeds as a man, not as a woman. On the opposite end of the scale, the Greek Queen Helen uses her femininity, but this is only femininity through the male gaze. Helen essentially objectifies herself and becomes a sexual object. The three myths share a successful revolt, but the success occurs within the parameters of patriarchy to which – instead of changing them – each actress adapts in her own way. This happens because the normative frame for the existing stories and roles, be it of real or fictional characters, but also other cultural patterns in theatre (and art), was, and predominantly still is, determined by the male gaze. Any revolt against the dominant ideology of its time is always demanding, as it must target the position of statements, the frame in which it is said. For this reason, the play doesn't offer simple and moralistic answers, either. Instead, it directs the audience to discover "the ambiguity of words, values, humans", gain an insight into the "conflict of the world", and perhaps at last abandon "its previous convictions and accept the "uncertain view of the world".

ALJOŠA LOVRIĆ KRAPEŽ

Weltschmerz

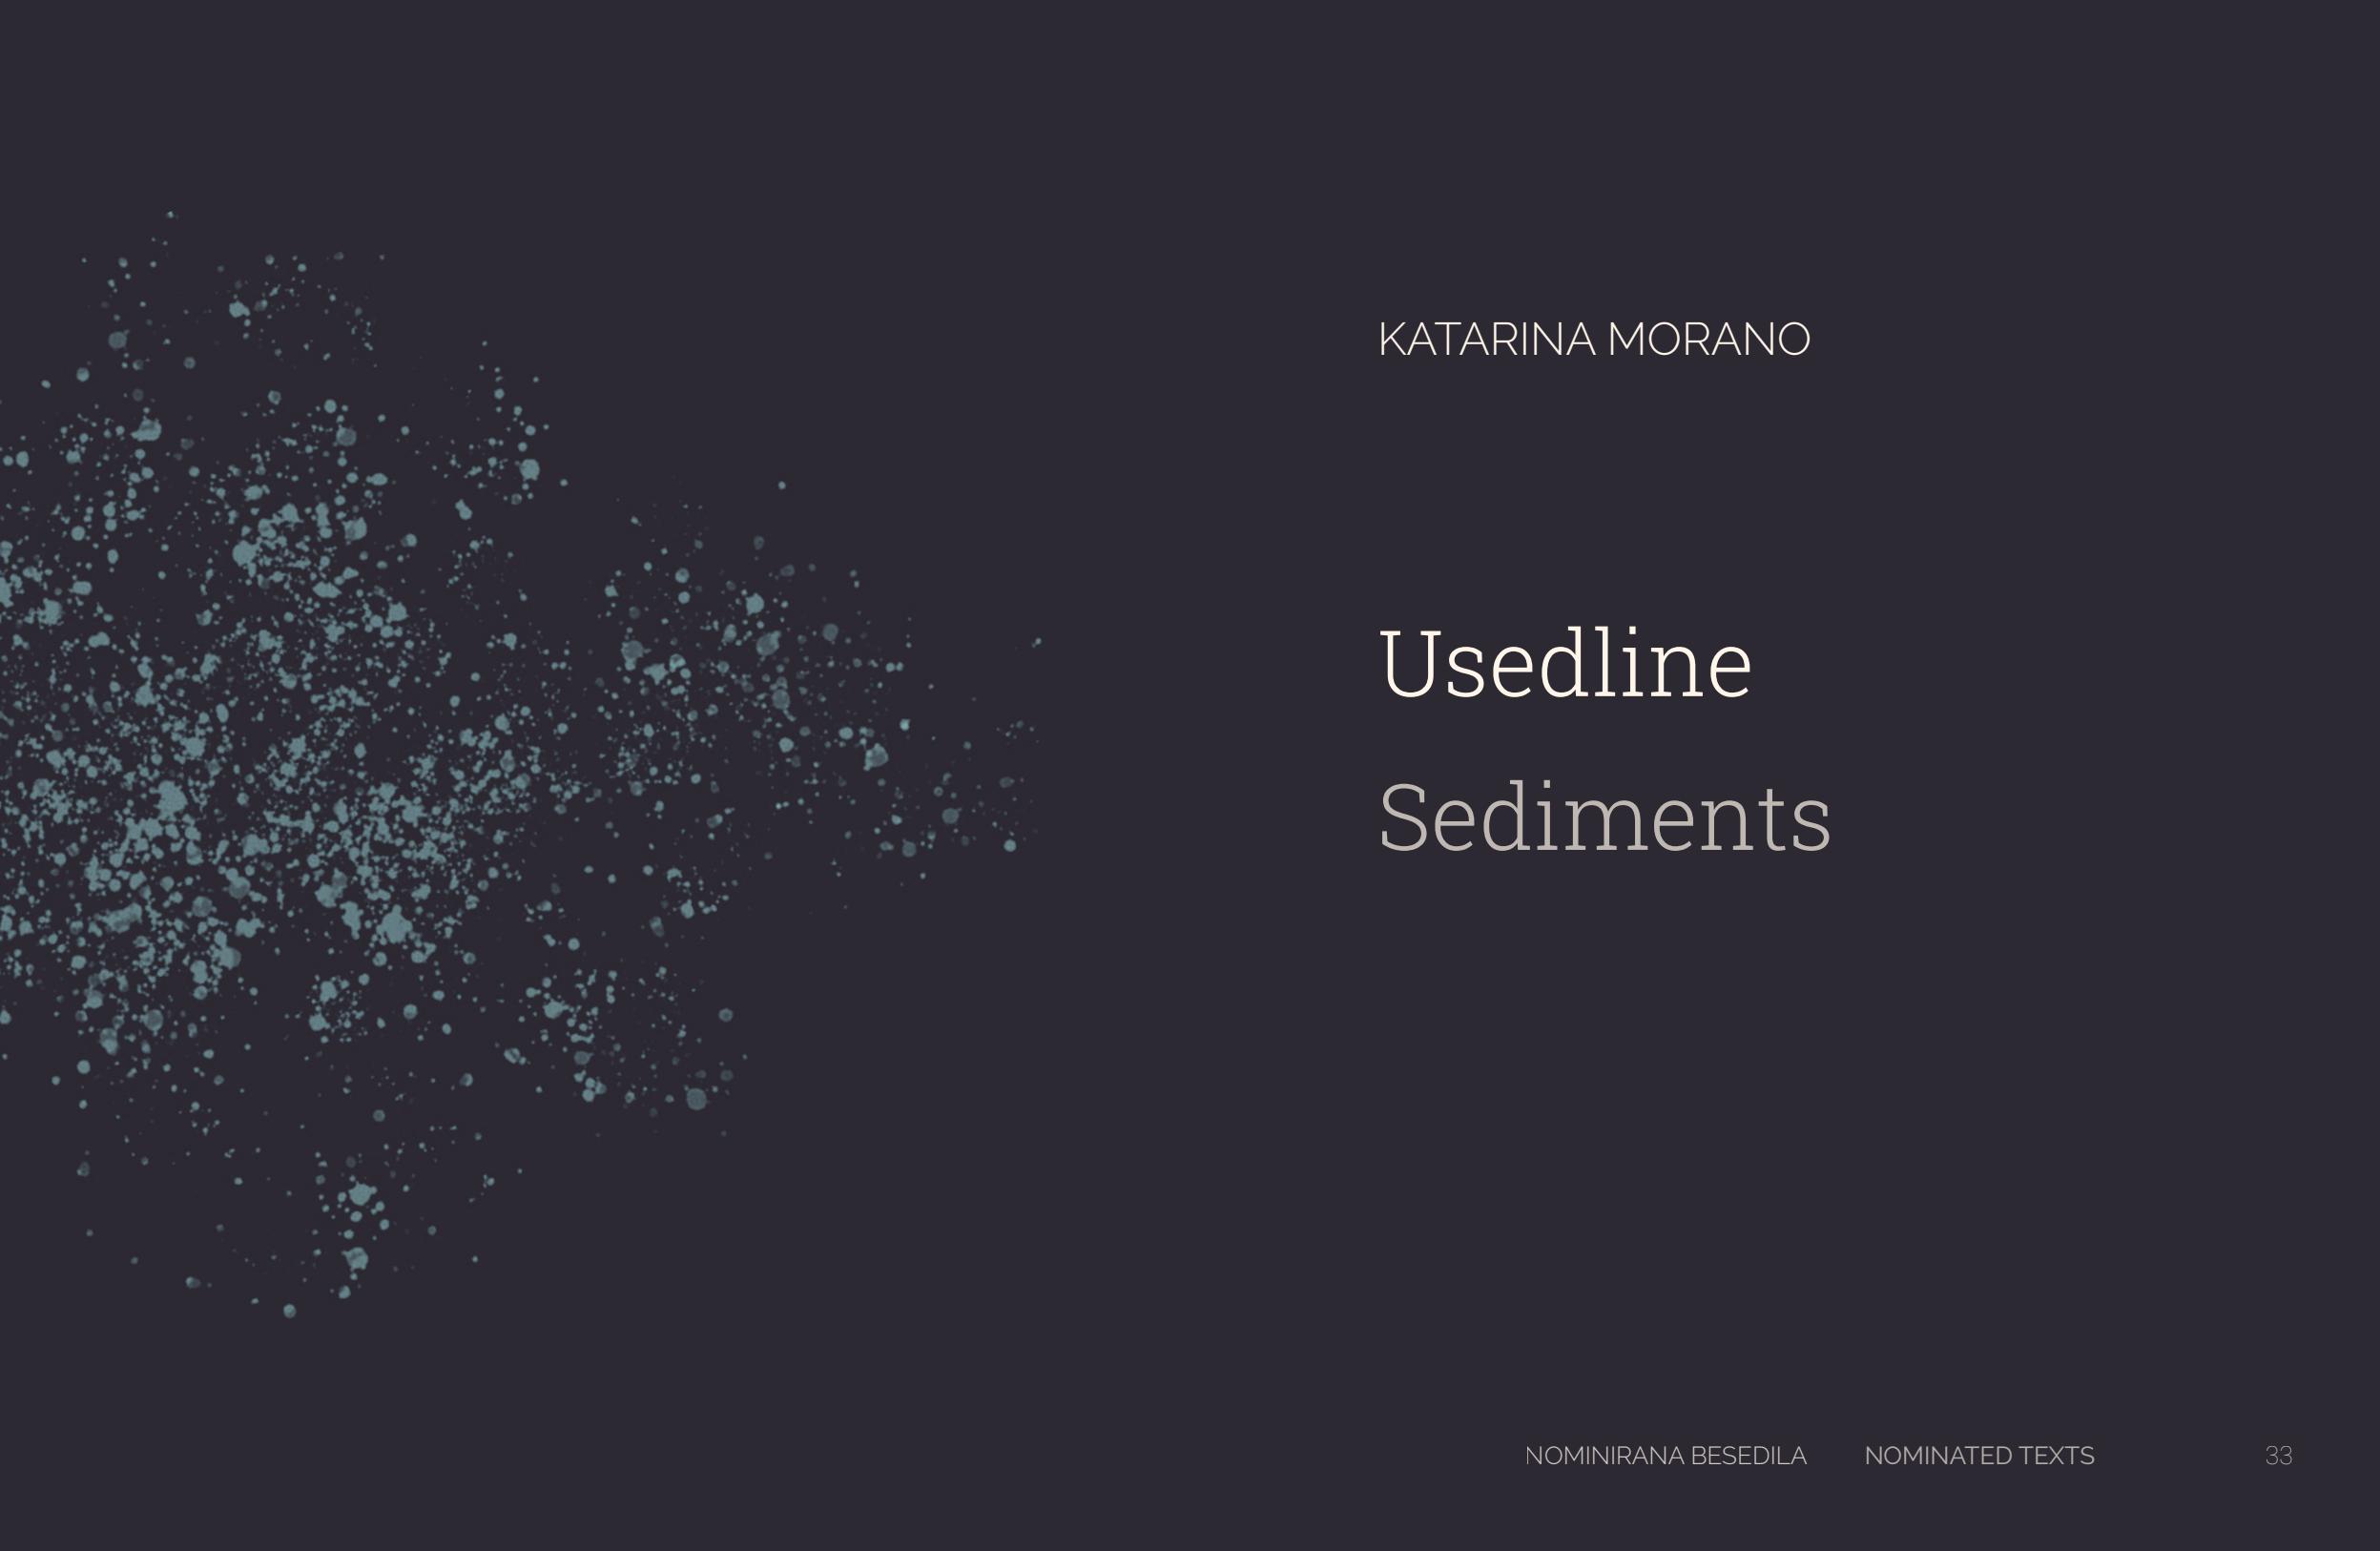

Weltschmerz

Weltschmerz je igra o današnjem času, ki uporablja vzporedno in hkrati več dramskih postopkov in matric: od realistične in veristične do anti-utopične in groteskno-satirične. Dramski avtor rapsod jo postavi v tipično blokovsko naselje, ki bi bilo lahko tudi slovensko. Hkrati pa smo priča bujni domišljiji, s katero poveže več tipov in situacij, ki jih na prvi pogled (tega ustvarja govorna lega, ki je izrazita simulacija pogo-vornega jezika) uprizarja s pomočjo zaporedja klišejev. Trinajst dramskih likov, razpršenih v sedem stanovanj, prihaja v različne interakcije, ki izrišejo mikro socialno okolje pripadnikov različnih spolov, starostnih skupin, etničnega porekla, izobrazbe. Z novo normalnostjo, ki jo je oblikovala epidemija covid-a-19, se spopadajo vsi, a nihče ne najde prave izhodne strategije, nad vsem pa orwelovsko bedi fantomski »Center« za zajezitev epidemije, ki se je prelevil v center moći, nadzora in ustrahovanja. Prizori si sledijo s stopnjujočim se tempom, vedno večjo agresijo in (samo)de-strukcijo. V na videz čisto realistično opisanem svetu ves čas nastajajo povečave in pomanjšave, ki like kot male »junake našega koronskega časa« približajo bralcu in gledalcu brez moraliziranja ali spuščanja

Weltschmerz is a play about our time that simultaneously uses parallel dramatic approaches and matrices: from realistic and veristic to anti-utopian and grotesque-satirical. The playwright-rhapsode sets it into a typical neighbourhood of apartment blocks that could also be a Slovenian one. But we also witness the rich imagination with which the author connects several characters and situations that at first sight (prompted by the linguistic register, a clear simulation of spoken language) are realised through a series of clichés. Thirteen characters, scattered in seven flats, enter different interactions that sketch the micro-social environment of their different genders, age groups, ethnic backgrounds and education. Everybody struggles with the new normality shaped by the COVID-19 epidemic, but nobody can find an appropriate exit strategy. Additionally, the Orwellian monitoring entity, a phantom "Centre" to contain the epidemic that has transformed into a centre of power, control and intimidation, hovers above everything. The scenes follow each other at an increasing pace, with mounting aggression and (self-)destruction. In a world that seems to be described totally realistically, things get larger

v esejiščni (dis)utopizem. Toda vsemu navkljub se znajdemo in medias res: razpoke, ki nastajajo v na videz še vedno obvladljivem svetu, postajajo vedno bolj groteskne, položaj junakov nebogljen, svet, kot da meče iz tira. Presežnost pa Weltschmerz doseže s katapultiranjem na videz realističnega besedila v hiperrealnost s pomočjo posebnega sistema didaskalij, ki so izjemno goste, natančne, detajlirane, včasih zaradi kompleksnosti na videz neuprizorljive, a dosežejo, da se bralec še bolj neposredno in celostno prepusti rapsodovim igram z resničnostjo in o resničnosti. In s posebno metaficijsko uporabo opomb pod črto, ki začrtajo eseijzacijo tega dramskega hibrida. Prav te zarišejo posebno atmosfero, značilno za pisca. Weltschmerz je tako drama, ki zrcali čas po post-dramskem, v katerega prispeva nekaj dragocenih izvirnih rešitev.

or smaller and bring the characters, these small "heroes of our corona time", closer to the reader and the spectator without moralising or wading into the essayistic utopianism – or dystopianism. But despite all that, we find ourselves in medias res: the cracks appearing in the seemingly still controllable world become more and more grotesque, the position of the heroes helpless, the world, as if it were out of joint. But Welshchmerz achieves excellence in catapulting a seemingly realistic text into hyper-reality with the help of a unique system of didascalies – they are exceptionally tightly written, precise, detailed, and because of their complexity at times seemingly unstageable, yet make the reader even more directly and wholly submit to the rhapsodist's games with reality and about reality. And also through the special metafictional use of footnotes, which sketch the essayisation of this drama hybrid and outline the special atmosphere, so characteristic for the writer. Weltschmerz is thus a drama that mirrors the post-postdramatic time, into which it contributes some valuable solutions.

Usedline Sediments

Ko se po Mamini smrti družinski člani in članice zberejo, da pospravijo stanovanje in ga pripravijo na odpredajo, se znajdejo pred nalogo, ki je težja, kot se zdi na prvi pogled. Skupaj morajo namreč pregledati stvari, ki jih je Mama pustila za sabo, in se odločiti, kaj storiti z njimi: ali jih odpisati in odvreči ali pa jih raje vendarle ohraniti in zadržati. Toda takšna odločitev odpira nadaljnja vprašanja – kaj s temi stvarmi početi? Kam jih shraniti? In sploh – kdo jih bo obdržal? Materialni kosi in reči zvečine končajo kar v škatlah, škatle pa pozabljene v kleti, toda, kot ugotavljajo protagonisti igre, ne gre le za materialije – tu so tudi različni dogodki, vtisi in spomini iz preteklosti, ki se z leti postopoma nabirajo in usedajo v vse večji kup. Usedlin namreč ne puščamo le za sabo, pač pa tudi v drugih, konec koncev pa se nabirajo tudi v nas samih. Igra je tako dokument nekega življenja, njegov odtis – tu ni posebej presenetljivih ali presunljivih zapletov in preobratov, ni nobenih velikih zgodb ali posebej napetih situacij, niti kakšnih bistveno ambicioznih likov. Vse je zelo preprosto, enostavno, nemara celo banalno ali trivialno, toda prav skozi takšne partikularnosti,

When the family members gather after Mother's death to clean out her apartment and get it ready to put it up for sale, they find themselves facing a task more difficult than it seems at first. Together, they have to go through the things which Mother left behind and decide what to do with them: write them off and discard, or perhaps hold on to and keep them. But such decisions open more questions – what to do with these things? Where to store them? And not least – who will keep them? The material pieces and things mostly end up in boxes and boxes forgotten in the basement, but, as the protagonists find, it's not only about the material things. There are events, impressions and memories from the past, deposited in a growing pile as the years pass. We not only leave sediments behind us but also in others, and in the end, they are deposited in ourselves. The play is thus a document of a life, its imprint – there are no particularly surprising or touching twists and turns, no big stories or particularly tense situations, nor are there any particularly ambitious characters. Everything is simple, uncomplicated, specifičnim osebam lastne in intimne drobce, tekstu vstopa v obče in tako iznajde način, kako seči prek sebe in do nas. Čeprav ne gre za kakšne velike dogodke ali zgodbe, marveč za malenkosti, detajle, podrobnosti, ki se nam v času, ko se nam dogajajo, nemara niti ne zdijo tako pomembni in jih morda niti ne opazimo, nas prav takšni majhni drobci, ki se postopoma usedajo na dno naše biti, definirajo in konstituirajo kot osebnosti. Tej ideji tekst spretno sledi tudi na ravni dramske strukture, ki je zgrajena iz prav takšnih drobnih vtisov in fragmentov ter spisana v skorajda že (hiper)naturalističnem slogu.

perhaps even banal or trivial. Still, through such particularities and intimate fragments particular to specific persons, the text enters into the universal and invents a way to reach beyond itself to us. It does not talk about big events and stories, but about minutiae, details, ones that when they happen to us perhaps don't even seem all that important and might pass unnoticed. These tiny fragments, which gradually land at the bottom of our core, define and constitute us as personalities. The text cleverly follows this idea also on the level of the drama structure, constructed from impressions and fragments just as tiny and written in an almost (hyper)naturalistic style.

Zgodba
o bakrenem kralju

The Story of the Copper King

Nenavadna pesniška igra uveljavlja drugačno teatralnost v dialogu s slovensko poetično dramo Daneta Zajca in Gregorja Strniše, hkrati pa tudi v intimnih dvogovorih z Beckettom in njegovim svetom absurdna. Eliotovska pusta dežela, ki jo pesniško-dramsko postavlja Zgodba o bakrenem kralju, je izpraznjena vseh sledi misli in znotraj tega tudi distopična, tako kot čas, v katerem smo živeli zadnja leta. Svet, ki ga ubeseduje v sublimirani govorici poezije, je prazen in brez smisla. Kralj, ki nas asocira hkrati na Camusovega Kaligula in Jarryjevega Ubuja, oznanja nekakšno artaudovsko kugo, uničuje vse in vsakogar, celo to, kar je že mrtvo. Kralj ostaja sam, resda ga, tako kot Kralja Leara iz Shakespearjeve poslednje igre vseh iger, kot jo je označila zgodovina, spreminja norec. In resda se na obzorju njegove zavesti izrisuje kraljica ali ženska, ki pa je bolj onstran kot tostran bivanja. In tudi Bog, ki se pojavi kot nekakšen dokaz popolne odsotnosti smisla v tem simulaku modernistične geografije, ki ga predstavlja ta drama po drami, se končno z besedami rapsodke zapiše takole: >In Bog je – dodajmo končno – res mrtev.« Toda metafora kralja v tej

This unusual poetic play introduces a different theatricality in dialogue with the Slovenian poetic drama of Dane Zajc and Gregor Strniša, and at the same time in intimate dialogue with Beckett and his world of the absurd. In The Story of the Copper King, an Eliot-like wasteland, painted through poetry and drama, is void of all traces of thoughts and, within this void, dystopian, just like the time in which we have been living in recent years. The world that it verbalises in the sublimated language of poetry is empty and pointless. The King, who at the same time reminds us of Camus's Caligula and Jarry's Ubu, announces some Artaudian plague and destroys everything and everyone, even things that are already dead. The King remains alone, although, indeed, just like King Lear from Shakespeare's ultimate play, as history has called it, he is accompanied by the Fool. And while the horizon of his consciousness might see a Queen, or woman emerge, she remains more from the other side than of this side of existence. And God, who appears as some proof of the total absence of meaning in thus simulacra of pesniški igri se izkaže kot metafora za sodobni svet, njegove skorajda že kanibalistične vodje, in nas same, bralce in gledalce, ki smo kot sodobni subjekti izpostavljeni odtekaju časa in odsotnosti smisla, ki se je izmuznil med našimi prsti kot najtanji pesek in za seboj pustil zgolj prašne sledi. Ta čista in umetelno izpisana pesniška igra ubesedi in utelesi serijo ponavljanj in razlik ter nas pri tem uroči kot poezija in dramatika hkrati ali – še bolje – kot dramski impulzi na rezilu pesniške ostrine.

modernist geography, which this drama after drama represents, finally is written with the words of a rhapsodist: "And God is – finally, we might add – truly dead." But the metaphor of the King turns out to be a metaphor for the contemporary world, its almost cannibalistic leaders and ourselves, readers and spectators, who as contemporary subjects are exposed to the flow of time and the absence of meaning, which have seeped through our fingers and left only dusty traces behind. This pure and artfully written poetic play verbalises and embodies a series of iterations and differences and spellbinds us as poetry and drama simultaneously, or – even better – as dramatic impulses on the blade of poetic sharpness.

Odličnost v raznolikosti

Excellence in Diversity

Različni producenti so na 52. Teden slovenske drame prijavili 39 uprizoritev, ogledal pa sem si jih 68, kar je precej več kot lani (38) in kar se tudi pozitivno razlikuje od stanja v preteklih letih. Če bi bilo drugo covidno leto še malo bolj prijazno in bi producenti programe izpeljali, kot so jih napovedali, bi število ogledanih uprizoritev preseglo 70. Številke niso in ne morejo biti pokazatelj kakovosti, predvsem so posledica zapiranja kulturnega življenja v letih 2020 in (deloma) 2021. Posledica tega je tudi dejstvo, da se je produkcija slovenskih uprizoritev nevladnih producen-tov skoraj izenačila z institucionalno.

Slovenian theatre producers entered thirty-nine productions for the 52nd Week of Slovenian Drama. I saw sixty-eight productions, which is significantly more than last year (thirty-eight), and also a positive oscillation from the numbers in the years before. If the second COVID year had been a little bit kinder and the producers had realised their programmes as planned, the number of the productions viewed would surpass seventy. The numbers are not and cannot be an indicator of quality, as they are primarily a consequence of the 2020 and (partly) 2021 shut-down of cultural activities. Another Misliti slovensko dramo v letu 2021 ne more biti enoznačno, v maniri povzemanja preteklih značilnosti, saj je ob skoraj rekordni beri uprizoritev treba poudariti, da slovenska dramška klasika niti v reinterpretacijah, tako rekoč že drugo leto, ne najde poti na odre. In če pod izrazom sodobna dramatika razumemo avtorice in avtorje oz. njihova besedila, ki so nastala po letu 2010, ugotovimo, da smo v letu 2021 v veliki večini lahko gledali uprizoritve sodobnih besedil. V letošnji selekciji sem si ogledal naslednja besedila, ki so starejša od desetih let: Cankarjeve Hlapce, Flisarjevo Alico v nori deželi ter Jurčičevi Kozlovska sodbo v Višnji Gori in Sosedovega sina, slednji gotovo zaradi avtorjeve obletnice. Temu prištejem še dve produkciji AGRFT: Strniševe Žabe in Zajčeve Jagabobo. Pogrešati ali ne – skoraj gotovo je, da ustvarjalci cenijo novo, neodkrito, mlado, kolektivno in nevideno v slovenski drami.

Izrazna moč uprizoritev vedno bolj temelji na avtorskih pristopih, snovninem gledališču. Lani so avtorski projekti predstavljeni že skoraj polovico vseh uprizoritev, ki so bile del selekcije. Tega podatka ne vrednotim kot negativno zaznamovanega, kaže consequence is that in numbers, the production by independent producers almost matched the one by institutions.

Thinking Slovenian drama in 2021 cannot be unilateral, simply summarising past traits. That is because, along with this almost record yield, we must point out that, for the second year, Slovenian drama classics practically cannot find their way onstage, not even as reinterpretations. And if, when we say contemporary drama, we understand authors and texts created after 2010, we realise that, in 2021, we mostly watched productions of contemporary texts. For this year's selection, I saw the following stagings of texts older than ten years: Ivan Cankar's Lackeys, Evald Flisar's Alice in Crazyland, and Josip Jurčič's The Famous Goat Trial of Višnja Gora and The Neighbour's Son. This last one is almost certainly because of activities commemorating the 140th anniversary of the author's death. Two UL AGRFT productions must be added: Gregor Strniša's Frogs and Dane Zajc's Jagabobo. Whether or not drama classics are missing – it is almost certain that artists value new, undiscovered, young, collective and yet unseen in the Slovenian drama.

nam samo trenutno stanje, zanimanja uprizoritvenih in avtorskih ekip ter odločitve umetniških vodstev. Pa vendar se, kot opomnik, včasih zazdi, da je avtorski projekt postal izhod v sili, ko ustvarjalci ne vedo točno, kaj bi z izbranim (določenim, dodeljenim) besedilom počeli.

Avtorji sodobnih besedil, ki so stalnica programov na vseh stopnicah uprizoritvenih umetnosti, so mlade dramatičarke, dramatiki ali avtorske ekipe. Generacijsko gledano, je dramska ustvarjalnost zadnjih dveh let skoraj v celoti postala del mlade in srednje generacije.

Ali to pomeni, da je slovenska dramatika, v najbolj klasičnem pojmovanju, za aktivno populacijo ustvarjalcev nezanimiva? Ali pa se je v splošni trendovski miselnosti »glasno povedati svoj prav in svojo zgodbo« izgubil smisel povedati/uprizoriti sebe ob besedi oz. svetu nekoga drugega? Torej počelo uprizoritvene umetnosti same. Ker je imela starejša, klasična slovenska dramatika do zdaj domicil v institucijah, je pravi vzrok za nastali položaj treba iskati pri umetniških vodstvih. Mlajša generacija režiserjev, ki pretežno uprizarja slovenska besedila, nima povsem svobodne

The expressive power of productions is increasingly based on authorial approaches or devised theatre. Last year, such projects represented almost half of all the productions eligible for selection. I attach no negative value to this fact; it simply shows us the current situation, the interests of production and creative teams, and artistic management decisions. And yet, just as a reminder: at times, it seems that the authorial project becomes an emergency exit, the last resort for when creators don't quite know what to do with the chosen (or allocated) text.

A constant of the programmes of all walks of performing arts are contemporary texts by young playwrights or authorial teams. Generationally speaking, drama creativity has become almost entirely the domain of the young and middle generation in the last two years.

Does that mean that the active population of artists are uninterested in Slovenian drama, in the most classical sense of the word? Or has the point of telling/staging the self using someone else's word or world – which is the essence of the performing art itself – been lost in the general trendy thinking of možnosti izbire dramskih predlog. Preusmeritev programske pozornosti na naročene tekste, ki je prinesla veliko svežine na repertoarje institucij, je po drugi strani povzročila umanjkanje starejših besedil.

Opisani položaj pa ima tudi pozitivne posledice. Nova besedila, ki nastajajo za uprizoritev, med njo in zaradi nje, so namreč neposredna, sveža, angažirana, komunikativna in za uprizoritvene umetnosti pomenijo soočenje s sedanjostjo in prihodnostjo. Znani uprizoritveni, režijski postopki so različni: od skupinskih improvizacij do živih režijskih intervencij, pripovedovalskega gledališča, angažiranih igralcev. Tem videnjem sledijo tudi scenografske rešitve, ki ponujajo različne možnosti interakcije ali aktivacije gledalca. Ob vsem tem se zazdi, da je tekst dokončno postal (zgolj) eden od enakovrednih sestavnih delov uprizoritve, kar nas usmerja v premislek o položaju (dramskega) besedila v institucijah.

Kaj je torej drama danes? Retorično.

Posebej poudarjam, kot že lansko leto, da so vitalnejši del uprizoritev slovenskih avtorjev oz. ekip ustvarili nevladni producenti, ki presegajo

"loudly speak one's thoughts and one's story"? Because the older, classical Slovenian drama has until now had its domicile in institutions, the real reason behind the existing situation should be sought from the artistic management of theatres. The younger generation of directors, who predominantly stage Slovenian texts, is not entirely free in choosing the drama scripts. On the other hand, the reorientation of the programme's attention to commissioned texts, which has introduced a lot of freshness to the repertoires of institutions, has created a lack of older texts on these same repertoires.

The described situation also had positive consequences. New texts created for or in the production process and because of it are direct, fresh, engaged, communicative and bring confrontation with the present and the future into performing arts. The well-known performing, directorial procedures differ from group improvisation to live directorial interventions, narrative theatre, engaged actors. These visions are supported by scenographic solutions that provide different possibilities of audience interaction or activation.

What, then, is drama today?
Rhetorically speaking.

predsodke zgolj eksperimentalnega, ter za slovensko dramatiko prinašajo najdragocenejše uvide o temah, pristopih in uprizorjanju, kar poskuša prikazati tudi izbor tekmovalnega in spremjevalnega programa. Preboj izkazujejo projekti Varje Hrvatin, produkcija Gledališča Glej, Masko, Bunkerja in Momenta, ki niso značilni samo zaradi avtorskih pristopov, temveč so vsebinsko in estetsko celoviti, družbeno angažirani v snovanju izvirnih uprizoritev in posledično uprizoritvenih predlog. Za razliko od lanske selekcije so v institucionalnih gledališčih ustvarili tudi večje uprizoritve, s številčnimi zasedbami, prodornimi dramskimi besedili oz. dramatizacijami, v njih so opazni igralski dosežki, režijski stav se je visoko obrestoval in ponudil možnost, da se na festivalu predstavijo edinstvene velike in komorne uprizoritve.

Uprizeritve, ki sem jih izbral v oba programska sklopa, se osredinjajo na dve premisi: na temo aktualnega trenutka in na vprašanje, o čem si upamo govoriti. Sodobni čas se poraja v uprizoritvah najprej v izhodiščih samih besedil, v katerih najdemo: politično razdrobljenost, posameznika v nesolidarni družbi, psihična stanja

I would particularly like to emphasise that, as in the year before, independent producers created the more vital part of the productions by Slovenian authors or teams. These producers transcend the prejudice of just experimental and provide Slovenian drama with valuable insights into themes, approaches and performing. The selection of the Competition and Accompanying Programmes tries to reveal these insights. The breakthrough is particularly obvious in the projects by Varja Hrvatin and the productions of the Glej Theatre, as well as those of Masko, Bunker and Moment. They are not distinguished only by auteur approaches but are comprehensive in contents and aesthetics, socially engaged in creating original productions and consequently scripts for such productions. Unlike last year's selection, institutional theatres also created larger productions, with large casts, propulsive plays or adaptations, with noticeable acting achievements; this directorial strategy has paid off and offered the possibility of having both exceptionally large and chamber productions at the festival. The productions I selected for both programmes focus on two premises:

z boleznimi, podnebno krizo, odvisnosti, katastrofičnost, polarizacijo družbe (družine, skupnosti), občutek konca zgodovine ali trenutka tik pred kritičnim obratom. Umetniška obdelava aktualnega trenutka se nadaljuje z zgodovinskimi ali dokumentarno-stičnimi temami, ki z oddaljenosti, s postopki distance, učinkovito spre-govorijo o težavah in dilemah, ki nas še kako zadevajo in nas vzpostavljajo.

Dramske predloge v nasprotju z neposrednostjo dokumentarnega diskurza opozarjajo na problematike, o katerih se premalo govoriti oz. se v uprizarjanje nekaterih nevralgičnih točk niti ne želimo spustiti. Taka je zagotovo v družbi izpostavljena, a v uprizoritveni umetnosti skoraj spregledana tema spolnih zlorab, ki je večjo pozornost dobila z gibanjem #metoo in #nisisama. Neposredno z njo se ukvarja zgolj ena uprizoritev, nekaterе posredno, a glede na prezentnost teme, ki nenazadnje obravnava razmere (tudi) v gledališkem miljeu, verjamem, da mora prihodnost prineseti več premisleka tudi o tem.

Dramska in uprizoritvena ustvarjalnost si upata in želite govoriti o svetu, družbi, sebi, kar počneta na različne načine, s pomočjo različnih pristopov.

the theme of the actual moment and the question, what do we dare to talk about. This modern time appears in the texts that are first the basis for productions and discuss: political fragmentation, an individual in a society that lacks solidarity, psychological conditions and disease, climate crisis, addiction, cataclysm, polarisation of the society (family, community), the feeling of the end of history or the moment right before the critical turn. The artistic approach to the current moment continues with historical or documentarist themes which, from afar, using the processes of distancing, efficiently speak about the problems and dilemmas that very much concern and shape us.

Unlike the directness of the documentarist discourse, the drama scripts alert us to problems about which we do not speak enough or about the neuralgic points we do not even want to consider staging. One such theme that has been highlighted in society, but almost overlooked in performing arts, was the sexual harassment that garnered wider attention with the #metoo and #nisisama movements. Only one production directly deals with it; some approach it indirectly. Yet, considering the pres-

Ne smejo obstajati teme, o katerih si gledališče ne upa govoriti. Slovenska dramatika lahko nudi odgovore na aktualna družbena vprašanja, z neposrednostjo stopa v dialog s svetom, iz katerega črpa.

Še beseda o izboru. Poleg osrednjega merila, ki je vedno kakovost izbranih uprizoritev, je treba poudariti, da izbor določajo tudi nekatere druge kategorije. Med njimi je najizrazitejša vsebinska – torej prezentnost teme, ki jo predstavlja uprizoritev ali osrednje sporočilo uprizoritve. Različne so tudi oblike naracije: od klasičnih, dramskih uprizoritvenih postopkov do avtorskih pristopov z elementi performativnega, dokumentarnega in pripovedovalskega gledališča.

Drama je, tudi v imenu kranjskega festivala, razumljena v najširšem možnem smislu, tudi v primerih, ko se na uprizoritveni površini izreče besedilo, ki ni stalno ali nastaja sproti ali ga s svojo intervencijo sooblikujejo gledalci. Program, kot ga predstavljam s tem kratkim poročilom, je pripravljen na način, da festivalsko dogajanje prikaže podobo najboljše uprizorjene slovenske drame v vsej njeni raznolikosti. Ta odličnost pa je prisotna tudi v raznovrstnosti glede ence of this theme, which, after all, (also) speaks about the atmosphere in the theatre milieu, I believe that the future must also address this topic more.

The drama and performing creativity dare and want to speak about the world, society, self, and they do it in different ways, using different approaches. There must be no themes about which theatre would be afraid to speak. Slovenian drama can offer answers to the current social question, and with its directness, it enters a dialogue with the world, which is a source of its inspiration.

A word about the selection: in addition to the core criterion, which is always the quality of the selected production, I must emphasise that other criteria also define the selection. The most prominent among them is the content – that is, the production's theme or central message. The forms of narration are also different, from classical drama performing procedures to authorial approaches with performative, documentary, and narrative theatre elements.

The Week of Slovenian Drama understands drama in the widest possible sense, even when the text na vrsto institucije, spol, generacije, žanre, poetike, vsebino in nenazadnje geografski položaj (kar v centralistični podobi našega kulturnega prostora ni samoumevno).

Izstopa izvedbena raven izbranih uprizoritev, in sicer ne glede na to, ali je uprizoritev velikopotezna v rabi znakov, besedila in tehnologije ali pa gre za intimnejšo, skoncentrirano izvedbo. Konceptualno so si izbrane uprizoritve povsem raznovrstne, a so tematsko in vsebinsko prepričljive in pristne. Selekcija pomeni tudi umikati subjektivni pogled in iskati najboljše z bližanjem objektivnemu, torej preseči lastno videnje gledališča, da bi zaobjel podobo slovenske dramatike in njenega gledališča.

V iskanju pomenov se odkriva tudi prihodnost slovenske drame; kaže, da bo še naprej odkrivala, zagotavljala in preizprševala, ostala kritična, zabavala, povezovala in razbijala stereotipe. Vsebine ji, kot vidimo, zlepa ne bo zmanjkalo. Vse, kar moramo storiti, je, da drami damo prostor in čas. Da dramo gledamo, beremo, opazujemo in razumemo.

articulated on the performing surface is not fixed, is created concurrently, or co-created by the interventions from the audience. The programme, summarised in this brief report, was prepared so that the festival shows the image of the best produced Slovenian drama in all its diversity. This excellence is also present in the diversity regarding the type of institution, gender, generation, genre, poetics, content and geographic location (which is not self-evident in the centralist configuration of our cultural landscape).

What stands out is the performing level of the selected productions, regardless of whether the production is generous in the use of signs, text and technology, or it is a more intimate, focused production. Conceptually, the selected productions differ completely, but their contents and themes are convincing and genuine. The selection also means to remove the subjective gaze and search for the best by approaching the objective, that is, to go beyond one's vision of theatre to encompass the image of Slovenian drama and its theatre.

The search for meaning also reveals the future of Slovenian drama; it »Nikakršnega pravila ni. Vsako dramsko besedilo znova in znova odpira nova vprašanja, nove misli, ki zahtevajo, da jim poiščem smisel (ne pomen!), in vsaka uprizoritev znova in znova postavlja nova, svoja, enkratna pravila, svojo notranjo logiko, ki nima nič skupnega s splošnostjo v mišljenju in obnašanju, s pravili čutenja. In ko postavim uprizoritveni koncept, prostora ali celotne uprizoritve, ga moram v tistem trenutku že postaviti pod vprašaj, dvomiti vanj, mu podtakniti >napako v sistemu<, da postane ranljiv, gledalcu in zgodbi odprt, torej dostopen, da se naseli v njem, da najde svoj smisel. Da najde svojo izkušnjo v njem. Potem zaživi in se me dotakne (kratkotrajna) utvara – gledališka uprizoritev.« (Meta Hočevar, Prostori igre, 1998) seems it will continue to discover, provide and question, remain critical, entertain, connect and smash stereotypes. It will not run out of contents, as we can see. All we have to do is to give drama space and time. For us to watch, read, observe and understand drama.

Rok Andres

"There is no rule. Every drama text opens, again and again, new questions, new thoughts that demand I find a sense for them (not meaning!), and each production opens, again and again, new, particular, unique rules, their internal logic that has nothing in common with the general in the thinking and behaving, with the rules of feeling. And once I set up the staging concept, of the place or the entire production, at that very moment, I have to question it, doubt it, slip in an 'error in the system', so that it becomes vulnerable, open for the spectator and the story, accessible, to inhabit it, to find its sense. To find its experience in it. Only then does this (brief) illusion – this theatre performance – come alive and touch me." (Meta Hočevar, Play Spaces, 1998)

THE EARTHQUAKE

The House of Culture Celje and UL AGRFT

The production is 36 minutes long.

This production for one spectator requires the spectator's active collaboration.

"Although in the last season creators have frequently and regularly researched the theme of the miracle of the theatre community, the approach that The Earthquake takes is less spectacular and, therefore, perhaps more genuine."

Brati Cankarja – Reading Cankar

Slovenski center ITI, International Playwrights' Forum ITI, Crane Creations Theatre Company (Kanada)

Dogodek Brati Cankarja – Reading Cankar je logično nadaljevanje projekta Cankar Goes West (Cankar gre na zahod), ki sta ga Prešernovo gledališče Kranj in gledališka skupina Crane Creations Theatre Company iz Kanade pod vodstvom slovenske režiserke Andreje Kovač s prevodi dramatike Ivana Cankarja v angleški jezik predstavila lani.

Tokrat bodo izbrani mednarodni gledališki strokovnjaki prebrali različne Cankarjeve drame in v vodenem pogovoru predstavili svoje poglede na Cankarjevo dramatiko ter spregovorili o njihovih uprizoritvenih možnostih v tujini. Teden slovenske drame s temi prevodi nadaljuje promocijo slovenske dramatike v tujini, še posebej novih prevodov dram Ivana Cankarja, ki je že dobil vzdevek neodkriti srednjeevropski Ibsen.

Na okrogl mizi bo predstavljen tudi odlomek iz bralne uprizoritve Cankarjeve Lepe Vide v angleškem prevodu in izvedbi Little Lion Theatra.

Sodelujejo:

Jure Gantar (Univerza Dalhousie, Halifax, Kanada), Andreja Kovač (umetniška vodja, Crane Creations Theatre Company, Kanada), Vijay Padaki (Bangalore Little Theatre Foundation, Indija) in Kay Brattan (umetniška vodja, Little Lion Theatre, London, Združeno kraljestvo).

Brati Cankarja – Reading Cankar

Slovenian Centre ITI, International Playwrights' Forum ITI, Crane Creations Theatre Company (Canada)

The event Brati Cankarja – Reading Cankar is a logical continuation of the project Cankar Goes West, which we presented last year with its new translations of Ivan Cankar's plays into English. The project was led by the Prešeren Theatre Kranj and the Crane Creations Theatre Company in Canada, whose artistic manager is the Slovenian director Andreja Kovač.

With these new translations of plays by Ivan Cankar, who has already been described as the "undiscovered Central European Ibsen", the Week of Slovenian Drama thus continues to promote Slovenian drama abroad. Now we have invited theatre experts to read different plays by Cankar and, during a moderated debate, give their opinions about them and speak about possibilities of their staging internationally.

A segment from the reading performance of the English translation of Cankar's Beautiful Vida performed by the Little Lion Theatre will be shown at the round table.

Participating experts:
Jure Gantar (Dalhousie University, Halifax, Canada), Andreja Kovač (artistic director, Crane Creations Theatre Company, Mississauga, Canada), Vijay Padaki (Bangalore Little Theatre Foundation, Bangalore, India) and Kay Brattan (artistic director, Little Lion Theatre, London, UK).

Slovenska dramatika v izraelskem gledališču

Slovensko in izraelsko gledališče se precej razlikujeta, najbolj po načinu financiranja, saj je izraelsko zelo odvisno od sredstev, ki jih zbere s prodajo vstopnic. Letna dotacija javnega financiranja je okoli 30 odstotkov, preostala sredstva mora posamezno gledališče zbrati na trgu. Dobra stran te ureditve je zagotovo ta, da posamezne uprizoritve doživijo več ponovitev, tudi 300, 400 ali 500 ponovitev, kar ni nobena posebnost, nekatere presežejo celo 1000 ponovitev. Gledališča v Izraelu letno obišče 5 milijonov ljudi (število prebivalcev je več kot 9 milijonov) oz. toliko je prodanih vstopnic. Po drugi strani pa omenjeni način financiranja vpliva na izraelsko produkcijo, ki je zato navadno bolj konservativna, nepretenciozna, in poskuša ugajati prav vsakomur.

Ukvarjanje s sodobno slovensko dramatiko je bilo v tem načinu delovanja gledaliških institucij velik izziv tako za Yonathana Esterkina kot tudi za igralce in občinstvo. Esterkin je namreč v hebrejsčino prevedel nekaj slovenskih dramskih besedil in jih tudi režiral.

V spletnem predavanju bo predstavljal osrednja vprašanja, dileme in izzive ob uprizarjanju slovenske drame, predstavljal bo posege v besedilo, delo z igralsko ekipo in vprašanja, ki si jih je zastavljala ekipa. V zadnjem času je uprizoril nekaterе zmagovalne drame Tedna slovenske drame:

Vladimir in Hodnik Matjaža Zupančiča, 5fantkov.si Simone Semenič in Ljudski demokratični cirkus Sakešvili Roka Vilčnika – rokgreja.

Live stream lecture

The Slovenian Drama in the Israeli Theatre

Among the differences between the Slovenian and the Israeli theatre, the most significant is how they are financed, as the Israeli theatre greatly depends on box office income. The annual subsidy from public funding is around 30 per cent, and theatres must raise the rest on the market. No doubt, a positive side of this arrangement is that individual productions have more reprises; up to 300, 400, or even 500 are not unusual. Some productions have even reached 1,000 and more. Around 5 million people in Israel (out of a population of over 9 million) annually attend the theatre, or, at least, that's how many tickets are sold. On the other side, such a financing system influences the productions, which are generally more conservative, non-ambitious and try to please everyone.

Working in this theatre institution system with the contemporary Slovenian drama was a big challenge not only for Yonathan Esterkin but also for the actors and audiences. Esterkin translated a series of Slovenian plays into Hebrew and also directed them.

In his live stream lecture, Esterkin will present the core questions, dilemmas, and challenges he has faced when staging the Slovenian drama. He will discuss the interventions into the texts, working with the ensemble and the questions that intrigued them.

Recently, he has staged some Slavko Grum Award winners, among them, Matjaž Zupančič's Vladimir and The Corridor, Simona Semenič's 5boys.com and Rok Vilčnik – rokgre's People's Democratic Circus Sakeshvili.

The lecture will include short excerpts from the Esterkin's directions of the mentioned plays.

Prihodnost podpore slovenski dramatiki (strokovno srečanje)

Dogodek soorganizirata Enota dramskih pisateljic in pisateljev ZDUS ter Društvo gledaliških režiserjev.

V preteklih letih smo ob Tednu slovenske drame organizirali delavnice dramskega pisanja, na katerih je nastalo precej novih besedil, oblikovali so se novi avtorski dramski glasovi, priložnost za predstavitev svojega dela in izraza so dobili številni, zlasti mladi dramski pisatelji in pisateljice.

Tokrat se bomo vprašali, kaj ti dramski pisatelji in pisateljice potrebujejo. Kaj se dogaja z besedili, ki jih pišejo, kako in v kolikšni meri dosegajo svoje občinstvo? Ne bomo se spraševali samo o tem, ali so uprizarjana, ampak tudi, kako so uprizarjana. Strokovno srečanje bo omogočilo dialog med slovenskimi režiserkami in režiserji različnih generacij ter avtoricami in avtorji sodobnih slovenskih dramskih besedil. Ob predstavitvi primerov dobreih praks dramopisno-režijskih parov in s specifično oblikovano delavnico bomo skušali med poklicema zgraditi močnejše mostove in odpreti več vrat do bogatih ustvarjalnih priložnosti, ki jih prinaša krstna uprizoritev vsakega novega besedila.

Strokovno srečanje je namenjeno vabljenim strokovnim gostom in gostjam, njegovi zaključki pa bodo kasneje dostopni tudi širši javnosti.

The Future of Support for Slovenian Drama (Expert meeting)

The event is organised by the Playwrights' Unit of the Slovenian Association of Dramatic Artists (SADA) and the Theatre Directors' Association.

In the recent years, we have been organising playwriting workshops as a part of the Week of Slovenian Drama. In them, many new texts have been written, lots of new playwriting voices have been formed, and numerous, especially young, playwrights have gotten an opportunity to present their work.

This year, we are asking what these playwrights need. What happens to the texts they write, how and to what extent do they reach the audiences for whom they were written? We will not only ask if they are staged but also how they are staged. This expert meeting will enable dialogue between Slovenian directors from different generations and the authors of contemporary Slovenian drama. Using the examples of good practices of playwriting-directing pairs and a specifically tailored workshop, we will try to build stronger bridges between the two professions and open more doors to the rich creative opportunities that the baptismal production of every new text creates.

The expert meeting is intended for invited experts, but its proceedings will be available to the general public.

Okrogl miza o mladi dramatiki

Infiltracija na sceno

Društvo gledaliških kritikov in teatrologov Slovenije

Na okrogli mizi se bomo pogovarjali z mladimi ustvarjalkami in ustvarjalci, ki jih tako ali drugače lahko razumeamo kot mlade dramatičarke in dramatike. Če preštejemo vse, ki pišejo dramatiko, je imen veliko. Kolikim pa je to primarna dejavnost in koliko se jih s tem ukvarja profesionalno (torej za svoja besedila dobiva plačilo)?

Koga in kaj izraz mlada dramatika sploh označuje? Kaj pomeni dramatika v postdramskem gledališču?

Kako mlade dramatičarke in dramatiki soustvarjamo področje uprizoritvenih umetnosti? Zakaj se prijavljati na natečaje in kaj ti pomenijo za razvoj scene? Kako je na nju vplivalo institucionalizirano poučevanje dramskega pisanja in scenaristike na AGRFT? Kaj pa prodor v tujino? Kdo prevaja mlado dramatiko? Dramatičarke oz. dramatiki sami?

Je sploh smiselno biti samo dramatičarka in dramatik ali bi to pomenilo ukalupljanje v preživete strukture in hierarhije gledališča?

Predstavitev prispevkov gostov bosta sledila pogovor in debata o možnih rešitvah.

A round table on young playwriting

Infiltrating the Scene

The event is organised by the Association of Theatre Critics and Researchers of Slovenia (DGKTS)

At the round table, we will be talking with young authors who can be considered young playwrights. When we count all those who write drama, we get many names. But how many of them primarily write – and how many do it professionally (that is, how many are paid for their work)? Who and what are we talking about when we talk about young playwriting? What does drama mean in postdramatic theatre? How are young playwrights co-creating the field of performing arts? Why do they submit works to competitions, and what do such competitions mean for the scene's development? How has the institutionalised teaching of playwriting and screenwriting at UL AGRFT affected it? What about international breakthroughs? Who translates young drama? The playwrights themselves? Does it even make sense to be exclusively a playwright, or would that mean fitting into theatre's outmoded structure and hierarchies?

A discussion about possible solutions will follow the guests' presentations.

Slovenska dramatika v knjižnih izdajah

Ljudmil Dimitrov: Slovenska dramatika v bolgarskem prevodu

Profesor, teatrolog, raziskovalec in prevajalec Ljudmil Dimitrov je za knjižno izdajo, ki je izšla konec leta 2021, izbral in prevedel pet dramskih besedil. V bolgarski jezik so bile prevedene drame: Ljubezen Zofke Kveder, Pohujšanje v dolini šentflorjanski Ivana Cankarja, Dogodek v mestu Gogi Slavka Gruma, Mrtvec pride po ljubico

Svetlane Makarovič
in Kaj pa Leonardo?
Evalda Flisarja.

Blaž Lukan:
GENERATOR:: za proizvodnjo poljub-nega števila dramskih kompleksov: Slovenski eksperimentalni dramski in uprizoritveni teksti iz obdobja modernizma (1966–1986)

Zbornik sestavlja skoraj 60 dramskih in uprizoritvenih besedil 30 slovenskih avtorjev. Glavni namen izdaje je bil omogočiti njihovo (ponovno in komentirano) dostopnost ter nanja posebej opozoriti.

Simona Semenič: Tri igre za punce

Knjiga Tri igre za punce prinaša tri nova dramska besedila Simone Semenič: ti si čudež, ni to to in lepe vide lepo gorjo. Ob dramah je avtorica spremne besede Nina Dragičević zapisala: »Dela Simona Semenič niso posamična, niso elementi, kontinuiteta so. Glavna osišča njenih tekstov črpajo iz glavnih osišč vseh družb – patriarhat, družbeno nasilje, nasilje nad telesom, nasilje nad seksualnostjo, nasilje nad prostorom itn. – avtorica pa jih razgalja in poglablja.«

Tomaž Lapajne Dekleva: Tarok

Tomaž Lapajne Dekleva je avtor več dramskih besedil, nekatera so bila tudi že uprizorjena. Leta 2021 je pri Društvu za razvoj gledališča v izobraževanju izdal zbirko štirih dramskih besedil: Tarok, Podružnica, Juhuhuhu! in Lahko bi začelo se drugače in ženske prve bi nosile hlače.

Book Editions of Slovenian Drama

Ljudmil Dimitrov: Slovenian Drama in Bulgarian Translation

University professor, theatre researcher and translator Ljudmil Dimitrov selected and translated five plays for the book that was published at the end of 2021. The following dramas were translated into Bulgarian for this book: Love by Zofka Kveder, Depravity in St. Florian's Valley by Ivan Cankar, An Event in the Town of Goga by Slavko Grum, Dead Man Comes for His Sweetheart by Svetlana Makarovič and What About Leonardo? by Evald Flisar.

Blaž Lukan: THE GENERATOR:: for Manufacturing Any Number of Drama Complexes: Slovenian Experimental Dramatic and Performative Texts from the Modernist Period (1966–1986)

This anthology contains almost sixty drama and performance texts by thirty Slovenian authors. The main purpose of this publication was to secure their (renewed and commented) accessibility and put them in the spotlight.

Simona Semenič: Three Plays for Girls

The book brings three new dramas by Simona Semenič: you are a miracle

(nominated for the Slavko Grum Award in 2020), that's not it and beautiful vidas burn beautifully (nominated for the Grum Award in 2021). Nina Dragičević wrote in her accompanying study: "The driving force in works of Simona Semenič derives from what drives all societies – the patriarchy, societal violence, violence against the body, violence against sexuality, violence against space and so on – and the author reveals and deepens them, over and over again, each time anew."

Tomaž Lapajne
Dekleva: Tarok

Tomaž Dekleva Lapajne is the author of several plays, some already produced. In 2021, he published a collection of four plays at the Association for the Advancement of Theatre in Education: Tarok, Podružnica (The Branch), Juhuhuhu! and Lahko bi začelo se drugače in ženske prve bi nosile hlače (This could have all been different from the get-go and women would be the first to wear the pants).

Nominacije

Dan nominirancev

Prešernovo gledališče Kranj, Akademija za gledališče, radio, film in televizijo ter Slovenski gledališki inštitut

Dan nominirancev je dogodek, na katerem so že tradicionalno predstavljena nominirana besedila za nagrado Slavka Gruma. Bralne uprizoritve in dramaturške analize besedil bodo pripravili študenti AGRFT, razmislek o besedilih pa bodo prispevali tudi povabljeni poklicni dramaturgi, ki se bodo na dogodku pogovarjali z nominiranimi avtoricami in avtorjem: Jero Ivanc, Katarino Morano, Uršo Majcen in Aljošo Lovričem Kapežem. Pogovor bo vodila teatrologinja Ana Perne (SLOGI). Dogodek bo pomembno sooblikovalo tudi občinstvo, ki lahko s sodelujoci deli svoje videnje besedil.

Festivalski (popol)dan je v celoti namenjen najboljšim besedilom nove slovenske dramatike, namen dogodka pa je predstaviti avtorice in avtorje ter ustvarjati prostor za dialoško preizpraševanje stanja izvirne dramatike v slovenskem gledališkem prostoru, njenega uprizarjanja, interpretacije in razvoja.

Dan nominirancev je postal prepoznavna platforma, ki pomaga privzgajati zavest o pomembnosti (in aktualnosti) nove dramatike.

Nominees

The Day of the Nominees

Prešeren Theatre Kranj, Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television (University of Ljubljana) and the Slovenian Theatre Institute

The Day of the Nominees is a traditional festival event that presents the plays nominated for the Slavko Grum Award. The UL AGRFT students prepare reading performances and dramaturgical analyses of the texts, while professional dramaturgs discuss their own reading of the texts with the nominated authors. Audience members are also invited to share their vision of the texts with the authors and the guests.

This year's nominees are Jera Ivanc, Katarina Morano, Urša Majcen and Aljoša Lovrič Kovač. Theatre researcher Ana Perne (Slovenian Theatre Institute) will moderate the debate about the nominated texts.

The Day (or Afternoon) of the Nominees, an event fully dedicated to the best new texts of the Slovenian drama, aims to promote the authors of the nominated texts and open a space for dialogically questioning the situation of original drama, its staging, interpretation and development. Over the years, this annual event has become a recognisable platform that helps spread new drama's importance (and relevance).

Nihče je ni mogel
spregledati.
Nihče je ni mogel
posnemati.
Nihče je ne more pozabiti.
Ime ji je bilo
Edith Piaf.

Zdi se, da je podoba Edith Piaf nespremenljiva za vse večne čase:
nežno, krhko dekletce, ki jo je ulica oblikovala v presunljivo umetnico.
Človek, ki poje tako odlično in samosvoje kot Edith, tega ne bi bil spo-soben, če bi samo poznal, ne pa tudi doživel dogodkov z druge, »slabše« plati življenja. Trditev, da samo ta, ki pozna pekel, lahko govoriti tudi o raju, še kako velja tudi zanjo.

The Shadow of Your Dog

Musicians: Žiga Golob, Uroš Rakovec, Krunoslav Levačić

Jacques Brel (1929–1978), the Belgian-French composer, singer, poet and actor, is the author of evocative poetry and metaphors that invite us into a sensitive labyrinth of experiencing life. As listeners, we also become the heroes of his stories that blend with our own experiences.
Many 20th-century musicians have tackled Brel's legacy. The legendary Ne me quitte pas (or, as Završan translated it, Saj ne boš kar šla), for example, was covered by Marlene Dietrich, Mireille Mathieu, Nana

Mouskouri, Natacha
Atlas, Sting and others. In this concert, actor Branko Završan will introduce us to Brel's chansons in his translations and interpretation.

Piaf, Edith Piaf: Vesna Pernarčič

Vocals: Vesna Pernarčič

Piano: Jože Šalej

Nobody could ignore her.
Nobody could imitate her.
Nobody can forget her.
Her name was Edith Piaf.

For time everlasting, it seems that the image of Edith Piaf is unchangeable:
a tender, fragile girl that the street shaped into a touching artist.

A human being who sings as perfectly and uniquely as Edith could not do that if she only knew of, and had not experienced, the events from the other, "bad" side of life. The claim that only the one who knows hell can talk about paradise is certainly true for Piaf.

OČE ROMUALD/LOVRENC MARUŠIČ
Škofjeloški pasijon
Režiser: Jernej Lorenci
Prešernovo gledališče Kranj in Mestno gledališče Ptuj

Škofjeloški pasijon v izvedbi Prešernovega gledališča Kranj zgodovinske sedimente in težo svetopisemskega izročila, ki obdaja prvo slovensko dramsko besedilo, prevede v sodobno pulzirajoče gradivo, ki besedo tudi dejansko prestavi v meso. Vsebino gledališkega dogodka postavi v trpna in trpeča telesa, ki kanonično zgodbo uprizarjajo v svojstvenem odrskem jeziku. Ta uspe prebuditi osnovno resničnost odrske pripovedi, hkrati pa komentira njene kulturno-zgodovinske nanose. V ospredje odrskega izraza tako stopa predan igralski angažma, režisersko dovršen preplet vseh gledaliških elementov, ki precizno slikajo paletto umetnostno-zgodovinskih podob, pa dosega za slovensko gledališče močan likovni učinek. Škofjeloški pasijon je uprizoritev, ki se s svojo sugestivnostjo in intenzivnostjo odtisne tudi v kolektivno gledalsko telo.

The Škofja Loka Passion Play
Directed by Jernej Lorenci
Produced by the Prešeren Theatre Kranj and Ptuj City Theatre

The Škofja Loka Passion Play, performed by the Prešeren Theatre Kranj, translates the historic sediments and the weight of the biblical tradition surrounding this first Slovenian drama text into contemporary pulsating material that actually changes words into flesh. It places the content of the theatre event into passive and suffering bodies that stage the canonical story using a unique theatre language. This language manages to awaken the basic truth of the stage narrative, while at the same time commenting on its cultural-historical layers. The devoted acting engagement becomes the forefront of the stage expression. The sublime direction of all the theatrical elements, meticulously painting a palette of images from the history of art, creates a strong visual effect, not often seen in the Slovenian theatre. The Škofja Loka Passion Play is a production whose suggestiveness and intensiveness also leaves an imprint on the collective audience body.

Doroteja Nadrah
For her role in

Omejeni nabor igralskih izraznih sredstev Doroteja Nadrah v polnosti izkoristi za razvoj sveže in sodobne avtorske senzibilnosti. V vlogo Eve in Marije vstopa brez verbalnega aparata in se ne naslanja na tipizirane podobe žrtve, temveč s svojo telesno ekspresivnostjo in vztrajnostjo vzpostavi presunljivo odrsko prisotnost. Z vso svojo pojavnostjo se odziva na impulze celotne igralske zasedbe in odrskega dogajanja, gledalcem pa dostopno približa širino odtenkov telesnosti pasijonske drame. V sklepnih trenutkih uprizoritve, ko Doroteja Nadrah na odru ostane sama, se v njej strnjeno odvije celoten gledališki pasijon.

Doroteja Nadrah succeeds in developing a limited scope of acting expressions into a creation with fresh and modern sensitivity. She takes on her roles of Eve and Mary without the verbal apparatus. She does not rely on the typified images of a victim but instead uses her physical expressiveness and persistence to establish a touching stage presence. Nadrah uses her entire presence to react to the impulses of the entire cast and stage action and succeeds in making the scope of the physical nuances of the passion play accessible to the audience. In the closing moments, when Doroteja Nadrah remains alone on the stage, the passion play's entire essence unfolds in her.

Blaž Setnikar v uprizoritvi Škofjeloški pasijon oblikuje neposreden, vendar boleč živ trpni element – na njegovo telo se vpisujejo številna dejanja in geste trpinčenja. Setnikar se kot Adam in Kristus brezkompromisno podvrže torturi uprizoritvenega kolesja, pri čemer znotraj njega ostaja čist v svoji sleherniški naivnosti. Navkljub protagonistični umeščenosti v odrski dogodek se z nosilnim bremenom osrednjosti sooča nepretenciozno, vseeno pa s svojo nespregledljivo senzibilnostjo postane njeno gravitacijsko središče.

Blaž Setnikar

For his role in

THE ŠKOFJA LOKA PASSION PLAY

In The Škofja Loka Passion Play, Blaž Setnikar creates a straight-forward, yet painfully alive passive and suffering element – a series of actions and gestures of torture are written onto his body. As Adam and as Christ, Setnikar is uncompromising in his submission to the torture of the performing machinery yet remains pure in his Everyman-like naïveté. Although in the centre of the stage event, Setnikar carries the burden of being the protagonist without pretentiousness; his unmistakable sensitivity nevertheless becomes the play's gravitational centre.
